

We can guide the HLS to consider a register at the corresponding port by adding the register keyword in the associated port interface pragma.